The Dean of Women

PROBABLY no one realizes the important position and the great responsibility held by the Dean of Women. She is the leader of the young women of our campus in every phase of campus activity and helps not only to mold the lives of these girls. but also to inspire them to observe the laws and ideals common to every social group. Although her powers sometimes verge on policies of restriction, she is not primarily seeking to shackle the women of the campus, but to give to them the benefits of her experiences and better judgment.

The Dean is a woman whom every girl respects and admires. She is the guiding force to which every girl looks and depends.

Ralph E. McWhinnie, B.A.

The Registrar

THE work of the Registrar has changed from that of a bookkeeper to historian. He is at present one of the most important of administrative officers of the University. He comes in contact with more students than probably any other official.

In former days the Registrar's office was one merely of figures, statistics, and records. Today, his files disclose the university life-history of the student. Not only are the grades shown, but also every activity he entered into in his college career, in fact, everything of importance and interest concerning him is preserved for a permanent record of his university life in the files of the Registrar's office.

With the increase in the number of details to be recorded, and the steady increase in the size of the student body, the personnel of the Registrar"s office has steadily increased until it is now several times the size of the original force. With its increase in size and amount of work has come a proportionate increase in importance and utility, until it is one of the most efficient and useful branches of the administration.

Reba M. Davis, B.L.S.

The Librarian

THE Librarian is indeed a very important personage in our institution. The students probably do not realize what a potent factor the Librarian is in the acquiring of knowledge and the furthering of research work.

She acts as a guide and assistant indirectly to every student. Well trained, efficient, and ever ready to do more than her share in helping each individual to obtain the best possible information concerning work being developed by the student. Without her assistance the majority of students would flounder around, lost in the wealth of material surrounding them, unable to make any wise selections or profit by the material at their disposal.

The Division of Letters and Sciences

HE College of Liberal Arts is the basic and foundational part of every university. It is in this college that students pursue duties designed to result in a liberal education or a foundation for further specialized studies.

This college was the first one established in the University and has ever since been the largest and most important branch of the University. At present nearly every student in the University is enrolled in some course in this college.

While the fundamental purpose of the college is to afford a liberal and general education, it provides the basis for all professional studies. Every professional college requires as preliminaries to entrance, certain Liberal Arts courses. The importance attached to such preliminary studies is shown by the increasing amount of such work required for entrance into the specialized divisions.

Dean Soule is also Dean of Men of the University.

Charles H. Haglund, A.m., J.D., Associate Professor.
Clarence Morris, LL.B., LL.M., Assistant Professor.
A. W. McCollough, A.B., J.D., Lecturer in Law.
Charles V. Garnett, LL.B., Lecturer.
Carl P. Arnold, A.B., LL.B., Instructor.

Charles J. Kinnane, LL.B., B.S., Dean of the Laze School.

The Law School

T${ }^{\top}$ HE Law School, thongh at present comparatively small, is of recognized high standing. It is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and received Class A rating by the American Bar Association. Inasmuch as there were only thirty-nine law schools so rated by the American Bar Association, such selection is evidence of the standing of the school as compared with others in the country.

The Law School is at present housed on the third floor of the Library building. Due to its rapid rate of growth, the quarters are already becoming crowded, and further growth as indicated by the large numbers of students taking pre-legal courses indicates that expansion is inevitable.

Although the Law School has been in existence only since 1920, its graduates have found places of importance in the state, and the school is becoming favorably known because of the quality of its products.

The College of Engineering

FROM a begimning as the Department of Mechanic Arts, in the early days of the University, the College of Engineering has developed to one of the most important college divisions of the University.

Along with its growth in student enrollment and interest among the students, the College of Engineering has been expanding in the size of its housing quarters. Four years ago, a long stride toward the present excellent condition was made when the shops building was built. In 1927, the Engineering College moved into a new classroom and office building that is one of the outstanding structures on the campus.

Indicative of its keeping trend of advancing science, was the installation in the college, this year, of a course in aeronautics which, it is expected, will be followed soon by a regular course in actual flying.

The College of Agriculture

AN outstanding College of Agriculture, worthy of the position and name as the preparatory school for the future agriculturists of the State of Wyoming, is the College of Agriculture of the University of Wyoming. It has been predicted. and probably will come to be with a great deal of certainty, that the greatest agricultural development in the next twenty-five years in this great field in the state, will come through our own men and women of Wyoming, who study and will study in this college.

A remarkabiy able faculty, assisted by the extensive facilities for good instruction, is possil)ly the one greatest factor that has put the College of Agriculture in the eminent position that it now holds.

Wyoming is fast becoming one of the leading agricultural states of the west and the Agricultural College is a live adjunct to the live University of this state.

The College of Education

THE College of Education has for its special duty the training of men and women to enter the field of teaching. It is not concerned merely with the schoolroom teacher as an animate object, but it trains that individual to do his work by the best possible methods. It has problems too, in the training of educational supervisors and leaders.

The College of Education is divided into several departments, each of which trains as it is concerned, either for secondary, elementary, rural or special schools. A laboratory system is at the disposal of students in this college for demonstrating the various educational principles or theories and for providing the student teachers with opportunity of putting into execution those principles he is learning while under critical but helpful guidance. It is a college that has a large enrollment and is certainly furnishing a broad worthwhile service to students and to the various communities.

The Division of Commerce

DUE to the increasing realization of the necessity for training in the principles and practice of business, and the desire of large numbers of students to enter into that phase of life, the Division of Commerce has been growing rapidly. At present it affords opportunities for study in nearly every line of business, designed to give a thorough basis for practical business life. From an early start confined mostly to stenography and bookkeeping, the division has spread its scope to embrace all branches, including accounting, business law, insurance, and other intportant adjuncts to present day business.

The Division of Correspondence Study

COURSES in all collegiate subjects, offered by correspondence to all those who wish such instruction but are unable to attend the University, is the aim of this department. Great progress is being made and increasingly large numbers are taking advantage of this opportunity for instruction.

A. E. Bowman, B.S., Director of E.rtension Dizision.

The Extension Division

THE Extension Division is conducted to give practical advice and instruction in the fields of Home Economics and Agriculture to the people throughout the state. This work is carried on by county agents and state specialists, who cooperate in a systematic way in working out the problems of each community.

AVERY prominent group on the University campus is the Senior Class of 1927-28. The members of this class are leaders in many fields of activity such as dramatics, debating, education clubs, and literary societies. Several of the school's most prominent athletes and politicians are numbered among the members of this class. The Class of ' 28 managed one of the best "Sneak Days" in the history of the school and expects to apprehend the Juniors this year but to no avail.

THE Junior Class of the year 1927-28 was hard pushed by its many responsibilities to make the year a successful one, but the members manfully and womanfully threw out their respective chests to their respective labors and survived to see these labors rewarded by success.

The executive staff of the Branding Iron and of the Wyo are juniors as are some of the school's star athletes. The Jumior Prom, given on May if, was one of the most brilliant proms ever presented.

THE Sophomore Class of 1927-28 is a large class and has been quite outstanding on the campus this year. Iron Skull, the honorary Sophomore organization, has been very active and is endeavoring to interest other colleges in the installation of similar organizations. The Girls' Pep Club, a Sophomore organization, also, was granted its petition to Spurs, a national pep society on March i. The Sophomores are preparing themselves well for the manifold duties that will be theirs as Juniors.

THE Freshmen Class of 1927-28 started the year enthusiastically by whitewashing the "W" before the upperclassmen had even registered. This class obligingly did the job over again a few days later. The members of this class have been very active, especially in dramatics. Several Freshman names appeared on the Honor Roll at the end of the winter term. The class is a large one. So large, in fact, that it was found necessary to elect two sets of governing officers before the entire class was satisfactorily ruled. Even the president of the A.S.U. W. was called into the controversy before it was finally settled.

Dean C. R. Manwele
Dircctor of
Summer Session

Summer Session 1927

0NE of the outstanding features of the summer quarter at the University of Wyoming was the growth and development of activities sponsored by the summer division of the Associated Students.

The officers, elected by the student body, were all outstanding people who had devoted much time and thought to ways and means of making the summer session activities attractive to the student body.

Among the outstanding features were the semi-weekly publication of the Branding Iron, the various types of athletic activities, social functions, such as dancing, parties, and beefsteak fries, and the dramatic activities which were developed in the recent sessions.

The promotion of a section for the summer session in the Wyo was the latest evidence of progress. The exceptional growth of the session both in numbers and in quality of the student body can be traced to a considerable degree to the loyal cooperation of the student organizations.

Dean Maxwell, director of the summer session since 1920 , has been an untiring worker for the betterment of the institution. The enrollment of 405 in 1920 was increased to $1,3^{8} 3$ in 1927. This increase was due in the main to the efforts of Dean Maxwell.

The Inter-Fraternity Council

THE Inter-Fraternity Council has aided greatly in securing harmony and cooperation among the fraternities on the campus. Dr. Vass, who is a member of Phi Delta Theta acts as chairman of the Council. Plans for the Inter-Fraternity dance did not materialize this year, but it is hoped that this annual affair will not be discontinued altogether.

The Engineering Society

THIS age is one of advancement, and as such it has placed upon the various lines of engineering countless exacting demands. The solutions of the preblems presented have given rise to a wealth of invention and development that amounts almost to profusion. The average student of engineering rarely has the leisure to study and keep abreast of even a small percentage of the new industrial development, hence the need for a medium for tying in the theoretical with the practical was keenly felt. It was with the idea of supplying this medium that the Engineering Society was organized. All engineering students and faculty members, as well as practicing engineers interested in the school, are eligible for membership, and at monthly meetings of the Society problems and new developments are discussed by members or by men who have studied and been in direct contact with them. The Society augments pride of profession and forms a basis for the solid organization that is essential in successful enterprises today, at the same time giving the student an insight into the achievements of the profession while he obtains his academic training and instruction in "The Control of Nature for the Service of Man."

Rifle Team

UNDER the supervision of Captain Ronald Ring, the rifle team of the University R. O. T. C. Unit made long strides ahead during 1927 and 1928. Matches were held by telegraph with several other college R. O. T. C. Units and the Wyoming team made an excellent showing in the final tabulation.

In a handicap match with the Coed rifle team, the Cowboys went down to defeat like gentlemen. The Coeds shot from a prone position and the cadets fired from a standing position. Even though thus handicapped, the men almost took the women into camp and showed that the male is not altogether devoid of means of self defense.

A number of crack-shots were uncovered in this year's competition, who will be available as a nucleus to build a team around next year.

1928 Wyo Beauty Contest

FOLLOWING the precedent set by the management of the 1927 Wyo, the staff members of the 1928 W yo used again this year the method of having the Wyo beauty contest winners selected by an artist and illustrator of national renown and reputation.

The portraits of the winners of the beauty contest, shown on the following pages, were chosen by James Montgomery Flagg from a large number submitted to him during the winter season.

Mr. Flagg, in addition to his fame as an artist and illustrator, is also an author of some note. Although a native of New York City, he wears the four-gallon toppiece of the plains with all of the savoir of a veteran cow-puncher.

Two of the beauty contest winners, Miss Lane and Miss Miller, are members of the Junior Class.

1928 Wyo Popularity Contest

Through the medium of a contest conducted in conjunction with one of the early sales campaigns of the 1928 Wyo, there were selected the three young ladies of the Cowboy campus, who, according to the number of votes tallied in various ways during the contest, were adjudged by the student body as the most popular in this institution. They also appear in full page portraits in the following section.

Women's Debate

THOUGH the University of Wyoming, in common with leading debate schools throughout the United States, has been steadily reducing the number of oldstyle formal, decision debates on her schedule for the past several years, the season of 1927-28 was almost unique in this respect.

The men took part in one decision debate, against Carleton College of Northfield, Minnesota, where Prexy Crane won his Delta Sigma Rho key. The decision was lost with honor against one of the strongest teams in the country.

According to the schedule as arranged, this should have been the only decision debate in which a Wyoming team participated during the season, but the women, to their surprise, found the superintendent of the training school serving as single expert judge in their meeting with Western State at Gunnison. They lost the decision, thus introducing another unique condition, unknown to Wyoming debate teams for some five years past.

Aside from the preponderance of no-decision debates, the most notable fact about the season of 1927-28 was the powerful array of schools on the schedule.

The women established forensic contact with such institutions as Oregon State College (formerly Oregon Aggies), University of Utah, Brigham Young University, Colorado College, University of Colorado, University of California at Los Angeles and Redlands University.

Men's Debate

THE men's schedule included, University of Iowa, Chicago-Kent College of Law, Marquette University, Carleton College, University of South Dakota, University of North Dakota, University of Oklahoma, University of Colorado, University of Utah, University of Southern California.

From debate relations with institutions of this standard will come contacts of the greatest value, both to the University and to the debaters.

Wyoming is branching out a little in the field of oratory this year, having entered the National Intercollegiate Contest on the Constitution. At the time this goes to press Miss Jean Warner is working on an oration for the regional semifinals late in May.

Miss Hazel Kreig was the very able representative of the University of Wyoming at the Rocky Mountain Oratorical League contest in Bozeman, Montana. Her oration, "An Eulogy to General Gorgas," was widely praised as one of the most finished ever given in this contest. She missed first place by one point through one of the judges, who had never judged in the Rocky Mountain Contest before, turning in a rating based upon a technical definition of a "college oration" which excluded eulogies.

The forensic representatives of the University of Wyoming for the season of 1927-28 included Hazel Kreig, Edith Ridings. Goldie Freshour, Norma Young, Katherine Coble, Alfred Pence, Warren Winter, Wesley Sampier, Orville Kelley, William Holland, Wyeth Sullivan, and Fred Ahrens.

The Branding Iron

THE Branding Iron, the official weekly publication of the Associated Students of the University of Wyoming, was this year, i928, published, as was the Wyo, by an executive staff of Junior men. Harry Mills Astin was the editor, and Jack Adams was the manager of the paper.

Through the efforts of these two capable young men and of a well-chosen and unnsually able staff, the Branding Iron was a true reflection of both the spirit of the student body and of the staff.

Eastern Stock Judging Trip, 1927

THE team left Laramie the seventh of November and returned the first of December. Practice judging work was done at Denver, Colorado, the Kansas Agricultural College at Manhattan, Kansas. Iowa State College at Ames, Iowa, and a number of the leading stock farms of Jackson County, Missouri, including the Baker Shorthorn farm, the Longview farm and the Columbia Stock farm. This year, for the first time the team went to the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis.

Two intercollegiate contests were entered, the American Royal at Kansas City, Missouri, and the International at Chicago, Illinois. Teams from all parts of the United States were entered. Wyoming placed seventh among fourteen teams at Kansas City and ninth among twenty-two teams at Chicago. This is the best record a Wyoming team has yet made.

Three members of the team who were entered at each show in meat judging contests, placed seventh in the first, and eighth in the second. Individual awards were received by John Myers for second on sheep at Kansas City, and first on horses and lamb and mutton judging at Chicago. Mary Whelan, Wyoming's co-ed stock judge, took third on lamb and mutton at Kansas City, and third on beef cattle at Chicago.

Western National Stock Show Team

THE judging team which represented the University of Wyoming in the competitive judging contest at the Western National Live Stock Show in Denver, January 16 to 21,1928 , was unusually successful in the contest, placing second to the University of Nebraska judging team and above teams from the Kansas Agricultural College and the Colorado Agriculural College. This is the best record yet made by a Wyoming judging team at the Denver show. Arnold King was outstanding for $W$ yoming, standing as the second high individual in the contest and first in the judging of breeding stock.

The tean made the trip via motor, stopping en route at the Colorado Agricultural College for preparatory judging. They then motored to Denver, visiting from there the ranch of J. D. Canary of Littleton, Colorado, and judging a few of his fine Hereford show herd. They also visited the "Diamond $K$ " ranch while at Littleton, and inspected one of the countries largest modern dairies. The members of the team had the opportunity to judge some very high class show stock and gained some valuable experience which will serve them well in future contests as well as in practical live stock breeding.

I'age One Hundred Seventy-five

ALONE
Echoing long and low
Comes the hoarse bellow
Of a lonely white-face monarch of the hills.
He stands on the crest
Gazes hopefully at the west
And searches longingly through the green-topped trees.
But the summer's range is bare
There's not a dogie there
For the winter's chased them down to the plains.

E
LEVEN years ago, the First Ammal High School Week and Basketball Tournament were held on the campus of the University of Wyoming.
This year, in 1928, the Eleventh Annual High School Week and Basketball Tournament were held on the Wyoming Campus. In 1928, as well as in 1917, when the competitive entertainment for the visiting high school students began on Monday morning, Coach John Corbett, the father of the institution of Tournament Week, was present to start the festivties and was on hand every moment of the entire week to see that everything went off smoothly and in proper sequence.

Coach Corbett is to be congratulated upon the growth of the work which he brought to life eleven years ago and which has grown to the size and popularity that it enjoys at present and will madoubtedly continue to enjoy in the future.

John Corbett, the father of the tournament, we salute you!

State Basketball Champions

R
OCK SPRINGS sprang the surprise of the Eleventh Annual tourney when it won the state championship from the strong Cheyenne quintet, winners of Class $A$, in the fina! game by a 35 to 30 score.

Coming through C.ass A, admittedly the best of the two classes. Cheyenne was doped to win, despite the fact that it had played two games in the morning of the day of the finals.

The Miners were not to be denied, however, and played unbeatable ball to take the title for Rock Springs, for the second time in the history of the tourney.

Moeller and Knudsen were outstanding in the Miner lineup.

Winners, Class A

THE 1927 State Champs, the Cheyenne Indians, came through to the finals tired but determined, folowing a climb to the top of the division that was disputed twice on the final day by the Casper Mustangs.

A combination of weariness on their own part and excellent basketball by Rock Springs proved too much for the tired Indians and they lost, by five points, the chance to be the first team in the history of the tourney to win the title for the third straight time.

The game fight of the Cheyenne cagers was made possible largely through the stellar work of Gage and Mallalien, respectively choice for guard and forward on the All-State Tean.

Second Place, Class A

SHOUING a team that had no physical peer in the tournament, the Casper Mustangs waded through to second place in Class A, after losing twice and winning once from the Champion Cheyenne Indians.

The Mustangs were almost on par with Cheyenne as this was proved by their one win against the Indians, but they were a little less experienced and lost the game that would send either team to the finals.

Harris, Richie and Schwartz were the bulwark that was the downfall of every team but one in Class A.

The Buffalo Bisons were winners of the Republican-Boomerang's cup for sportsmanship in 1928.

Second Place, Class B

COWLEY was the dark horse of Class B and climbed to second honors in that division almost unnoticed until the semi-finals.
Although the boys from the north lost to Rock Springs in the semi-final series by a large score, they played a good, clean brand of ball and deserved the victory.

CHARLES N. FOT'TER
In memory of a man among men, who spent his busy life in the administration of Justice. Ever a good and true friend of the University of Wyoning we mourn that the gain of another world is our loss.

THE name of John Corbett will always be inseparable from the history of Wyoming's steady climb to athletic supremacy.

As Director of Physical Education, Coach Corbett is performing invaluable work with his gymnasium classes.

John Corbett is known as the "Daddy" of the Annual High School Tournament held at the University. He has seen this athletic institution for secondary schools flourish for over a period of eleven years. Much credit is due him for the wonderful advertising that the University of Wyoming gets when the various high school representatives come here to participate in the contests during High School Week.

John Corbett Head of Physical Education Department

Bill Lee Trainer

Bill Lee is the popular trainer in all branches of athletics at Wyoming. He is a "friend in need" to many a tired and injured Cowboy, who has sustained an unlucky turn of the game. Bill always does his share to enable the Cowboys to come out as winners.

Raymond Frazer Coach of Gymmastics and Borring

T N the absence of boxing and inter-collegiate athletic activity, "Babe" Frazer has his hands full in coaching the apparatus and tumbling teams. The results of his services are shown by the splendid exhibitions held on the "half acre" during the intermissions of basketball games, as well as winning teams in inter-collegiate contests.

Ed Miller was the very successful coach of Frosh football last season. Ed was captain of the Cowboy football team in 1927, and he readily turned his talents aside from helping the Cowboys to win, to the building up of a team of fighting Calfboys.

Edward Miller Coach of Freshman Football

George McLaren Director of Athletics
©EORGE McLAREN came to IIyoming last fall to coach Wyoming's football team and, although faced with the difficult problem of filling gaps left by Cowboys who had graduated, he succeeded in training new material into a team whose greatest glory lay, not in its first year's achievements, but in its promise for the future. The Cowboys were nevertheless able to offer stiff competition in all of their games, and won the Thanksgiving game from the Bears of Colorado Teachers.

A MONG those who played their last year of football for Wyoming was fighting "Mickey" Stanton, captain of the team. Stanton leaves an enviable record to inspire young gridiron aspirants. He has served his Alma Mater for three years, during which time he not only carried the ball for many gains, but also showed his excellent ability in interference.

Captain-elect Stanley Duncan will lead the Cowboys next year. Those who have seen his able work as guard and tackle may well be hopeful of the future, as he will be followed by a string of experienced men in 1928 .

The Cowboys started the season with a victory over the South Dakota State Teachers' College to the tune of $3^{1-6}$. This was the Cowboys' first game played under the coaching of George McLaren. Ted George was outstanding in bucking the line, and Thompson and Harkins showed up well in halflack positions in the line-up. "Baldy" Whitman played right end for the first time, and "Tiny" Ormsby was for a time shifted to the back. Both did well in their new positions.

Captain Stanton

Page Two Hundred Twenty-five

A CROWD of 7,000 , probably the largest that ever witnessed a Cowboy contest, saw the terrific struggle that featured the game with Creighton at Omalia. It was a battle in the mud, and Creighton's slightly superior line enabled them to block two of Wyoming's punts, saining a touchdown each time. Stanton in an end rum, made the longest single gain for Wyoming, and the work of Hart, Thompson, and Harkins was also outstanding. For the Bluejays, Scott was the hero of the game. In being able to hold Creighton down to a 13 -O score, Wyoming may well consider a moral victory for herself.

In the first Conference game of the season, Denver was able to nose out Wyoming 7 -o. It was a plodding game, featuring much straight football and many fumbles. Denver's scoring machine was able to cross Wyoming's goal line only once, and that was in the initial quarter. Panek and Weakley were the outstanding Denver players, and for Wyoming. Hart Thompson, and George made most of the gains. Again Wyoming's inability to carry through in critical situations lost her a possible victory. There was too much fumbling, where there were but a few yards to go.

Page Two Hundred Twenty-six

AGAINST the very confident Chadron Normal team, Wyoming came back, and piled up a score of $3^{1-1} 3$. This game was spectacular and fast-moving. The boys from Chadron were shifty and fast; but the solid Cowboy line held like a rock. The spectators were delighted by Harkins' versatile performance. The two Thompsons, Ray and Wedge, played well, and passing was a feature of the game. This was Chadron's touted long-suit, but coupled with George's line-plunging and the end runs, Wyoming took the ball and bested them at their own game.

On a sea of mud, where earlier in the day had lain a foot of snow, hauled off later by a faithful student body, Wyoming literally covered herself with mud and glory, by scoring for the first time of the season against the powerful Tiger team from Colorado College. Harkins carried the ball for steady gains, and so, too, did George, Whitman and Stanton. And to the undying glory of the line, it held splendidly all through the game. Most of the game was played on Tiger territory, and their goal was never safe from the Cowboys' relentless offense.

lage Two Hundred Twenty-seven

IN this game, Wyoming gained more yardage, made more first downs, and did better passing than the Tigers. But, through the tough breaks of the game, the Cowboys were unable to turn their work into actual points. The final score was 12-8 in favor of C. C.

The game with Utah Aggies was an outstanding example of how the breaks can wreak disaster upon a good team. The game opened with a fumble which, was recovered by Utah and netted them a touchdown, after a race of forty-five yards. This disaster was followed by others, and Wyoming thus badly started, could not get set for any real consistent playing. The Aggies incited with the spirit of victory, and feeling that the tide insisted upon favoring them, were not to be denied. Critics, who saw the game, declared that the Aggies showed the best brand of football in two years.

The Cowboys went to Sheridan to meet the Bobcats from Montana State College, and a great game ensued. The Bobcats opened up with a bang, blocking a punt and Olsen fell upon the ball behind the line for a touchdown.

Page Two Hundred Twenty-eight

THE field was wet and soggy from heavy snows, and Wyoming could not quite get the pigskin over the line in subsequent tries. There were twentythree punts in the game, and few large gains. A great crowd witnessed the contest, and both schools were well represented by cheering sections.

Again Wyoming came back in the Conference to win a victory. At Greeley, where the Cowboys played their Thanksgiving game, they concluded the season with a score of 27-6 in Wyoming's favor, before a crowd of three hundred loyal Cowhoy supporters. A special train was made up to carry the gang down and back. The band was present, furnishing music for the Cowboys. In this game Whitman, Bennett, Stanton and Wedge Thompson played their last football for Wyoming. Their work was stellar, and the loyal crowd showed appreciation of it by long and loud cheering as the men left the field for the last time.

Wyoming's grid chances look very promising for next year, and with the Chicago game, a chance to break into big time awaits the Cowboys.

Page Two Hundred Twenty-nine

IN preparing the Cowboys' schedule for 1928, Coach McLaren was offered games with Nebraska University at Lincoln, with Creighton College at Omaha, and with Iowa State at Ames. Several other good games were offered to the coach, who accepted only the Chicago game.

Acknowledgment of Wyoming's coming supremacy in Rocky Mountain football circles is to be seen in the numerous offers from colleges in the Big Ten and Missouri Valley conferences. The Cowboys are a drawing card that is hard to beat in every way.

STEWART M. CLARK has been at the University of Wyoming for four years as coach of baskethall and track, and until last year, he was also coach of Frosh football. The high merits of his coaching ability are becoming more manifest every year. They culminated this year in the great divisional championship basketball team of 1928 . In track, "Stew" has made notable improvements: and we are assured of a winning team in that line of athletic activity in the near future.

THE University of Wyoming, for the first time in the history of the institution of Conference basketball, did in the 1928 season win the championship of the Eastern division of the Rocky Mountain Conference.

The Cowboys, after dropping the first two games of their Conference season to Denver at Denver by large scores, staged a comeback that was without equal in the amnals of Rocky Mountain cage ball, and swept through their next nine games without a defeat.

Mines hung one on the Wyoming men in the last Eastern division game of the season, but this loss was more due to a hard contest with the Teachers the night before than to anything else.

In the Conference championship series with the Western division champs, Montana State, at Bozeman, the Cowboys met one of the best teams in the nation, and lost all three of the series. Montana State in 1928 was probably without a peer in the entire country as a cage team.

Wyoming opened the season with two practice games with the Utah University cagers at Laramie. The Cowboys won the first 31 to 27 , while Utah took the second by a 29-26 score.

Page Two Hundred Thirty-three

THE Cowboys next journeyed to Denver, where their jinx of the past hovered over them long enough for the Pioneers to pile up two large discouraging scores. The tallies of these two games were 46 to 28 , and 46 to 18 .

Seemingly, however, these two defeats gave the jinx enough satisfaction that he left for good and the Wyoming men took hold and won the next mine straight games and the championship of the Eastern division.

The next game was a non-Conference tilt with the St. Joseph Hillyards, the national champs. The Cowboys played heads up ball and allowed the champs only a two point lead in the first half, but the Easterners evidently got tired of that sort of stuff and in the second canto they turned loose and snowed $W$ yoming under by a 56 to $2+$ final tally.

The first victim to fall beneath the axe of Clark's cagers during their period of rejuvenation was the 1927 Eastern champion, Colorado College. The far-famed Simpson-Clark combination went like a million and Wyoming went just a bit better. The final score was 41-36 for the Cowboys, and the Conference received a jolt that was just an indication of what was yet to come.

The next game was a non-Conference game with Regis, which the Cowboys took 41 to 32 , in an minteresting tilt.

ATWO-GAME series with Western State at Laramie resulted in another twogame win for the Wyoming men and fourth place in the division standing. The two games were almost identical in performance and the Pedagogs had no show against the classy passing Cowboy combination. The scores were 47-27, and 46-28.

The largest crowd of the season watched the Colorado Teachers go down to defeat in a game at Laramie that ended 28 to 26 . It was a thriller all the way through, and Clark's five best played through the contest with no substitution.

With a vanguard of trembling fans the Cowboys next journeyed to Colorado Springs and again upset the dope, and at the same time the Tigers, by beating them 35 to 31 on their home floor. It was at this time that Colorado first conceded that IV yoming had a basketball team.

The highly-touted Colorado Aggies came to Laramie full of confidence after a successful series of games and the Wyoming men gave two beautiful exhibitions for the benefit of the spectators, and tromped the visitors 53 to 22 , and 60 to 31 . The latter was the high score of the Conference for the 1928 season.

Wyoming next took a trip to Greeley, where the 'Teachers' College Bears lay in wait for them and for revenge. In one of the most thrilling and roughest games in the history of the Conference, the Cowboys overcame an almost overwhelming lead and nosed the Coloradoans out 32 to 30 .

THE following night a tired and battered bunch of Cowboys took the floor against the Miners at Golden, and were beaten by one point. The final was 31 to 32. Wyoming had won the Eastern division championship.

In an exhibition game with the Teachers, at Cheyenne, the Cowboys established for once and for all, their supremacy, by winning 39-28.

The Conference championship series at Bozeman was more hard-fought than the scores indicate, and Wyoming, although not accomplishing the desired end of attaining the Conference title, did, however, instill into the Western division team, considerable respect for Wyoming's ability and good sportsmanship.

By placing first in the Eastern division, after the poor start made in the two games with Denver University, the Cowboys sprang a surprise on the rest of the Eastern division and on the entire Conference.

Acknowledgment of W'yoming's supremacy in a major sport by the rest of the Eastern Division was sweet indeed to the Wyoming supporter, who has for years watched the Cowboys turn out good teams and play good ball and lose to the rest of the division by unlucky breaks.

It was as if the Millenium had arrived and they were not to be denied when the $W$ yoming men finally got started in their stride in the 1928 season. For the first time in the history of basketball at Wyoming, the Cowboy fans sat back when the Cowboys were in the rear, and felt confident that the final score would be right.

Frosh Football

THE 1927 Fireshman football team was a strong aggregation. The Calfboys, under the tutelage of Ed. Miller, former Cowboy grid captain and all-Conference end, made a great showing in the few games that they were able to get during the season.

The Frosh squad this year was filled with men who will be valuable additions to the ranks of the Varsity in the 1928 season. Reinforcements, both for the already strong and unbeatable backfield of the Cowboys, and for the steady plugging dependable line will be had next year from the ranks of the football men of the Class of ' 3 I .

1927 Track

THE Cowboys experienced a busy track season in 1927 and took part in five meets. Two of the meets, one with Montana State and one with Greeley Teachers were won by the Wyoming men. The Montana State meet was held at Laramie.

The Cowboys met the Greeley Teachers and the Colorado Aggies in a triangular contest at Fort Collins and took second place. The Aggies took first by virtue of their strength in the field events.

The Cowboys made a creditable showing in both the Eastern division meet and the Conference meet. Wedge Thompson, former Cowboy captain, leaped to a new Conference record in the broad jump, and Wyoming placed in the sprints and distance events.

The Wyoming team also went to the Boulder Relays, but had hard luck and did not show.

In the i928 season, to date, the Cowboys have been to only one meet, the 1928 Colorado Relays. There Eastman took first in the hundred-yard-dash: Wyoming took the 880 relay, and placed second in the 440 relay. Kuzara took third in the javelin event.

NOTABLE among the achievements of the members of the swimming varsity in the 1928 season was Captain Dallas' accomplishment in winning the Rocky Mountain Conference low-board fancy diving championship for the second consecutive time.

Dallas, with Budd, 220 champ in the Eastern Division, and Bell, rumner-up in the Eastern Division diving, and Coach George McLaren, journeyed to Provo, Utah, for the Conference Championship meet on March 9 and io. Wyoming, by virtue of Dallas' victory emerged from the meet in fifth place, tied with Colorado Aggies.

THE Cowboy tank men took part in the Eastern Division championships at Boulder on March 3. The Wyoming team took second in this meet, losing to Colorado University and beating Colorado Teachers and Colorado Aggies.

In the opening meet of the year with Colorado Aggies at Laramie, the Wyoming men lost by one point. The final tally of points was, Wyoming-33, Aggies34. The loss of this meet may be latd to the fact that the Cowboys were lacking in experience and confidence rather than in ability.

The other meet of the season was with Colorado Teachers at Greeley. Wyoming walked away with this contest by the score of 47 to 20 . Teachers were in their first year and afforded competition only in the 50 feet style and 150 backstroke events.

To Coach McLaren goes the credit for the excellent showing of the Wyoming natators in 1928. He took the team in hand in the middle of January and by the first week in March had produced the rumers-up for the Eastern Division honors.

Only two men will be lost by graduation, and a more successful season is forecast for the Cowboy mermen in 1928.

Apparatus and Tumbling

TUMBLING and apparatus work at Wyoming flourished in 1928. An apparatus team was produced by Coach Frazer which did excellent work in the second season of apparatus work to be seen at the school.

Meets were held with Colorado Aggies and Colorado Teachers and the Wyoming men won one and lost one, maintaining a .500 average for the season. The Aggie meet was held at Laramie, and althongh the Cowboys dropped the contest by a close score, U'Ren and Redburn were high point men on the flying rings and the horse, respectively. In the meet with Teachers, the Cowboys emerged victorious by a comfortable margin. Wilson and Redburn were high point men of the meet on the mats and the horse, respectively.

The tumbling team, under the direction of Charles Wilson, gave many excellent exhibitions during the season and showed ability that gives promise of a good bunch of tumblers in 1929.

Boxing and Wrestling

INASMUCH as boxing was abandoned as a Conference sport by the Conference athletic committee in 1927 and 1928, the fistic art at the Cowboy school was confined entirely to intra-mural competition and supervised instruction for physical education credit.

Wrestling was recognized as a Conference sport, but due to the fact that the material at Wyoming was not such as to warrant Conference competition, no intercollege contests were scheduled. Like boxing, however, wrestling was indulged in as a P. E. subject, and in the intra-mural contests.

Varsity Coach Raymond Frazer, with the assistance of Cliff Wilson in wrestling and Roy Rider in boxing, developed, during the past season, a number of wrestlers and boxers, who will be well able to hold their own with conference competition when that is supplied in the near future.

Page Two Hundred Forty-five

Intra-Mural Boxing and Wrestling

THE Sigma $N u$ fraternity, sporting a well balanced group of boxers and wrestlers, emerged victorious from the first annual boxing and wrestling intramural contests.

Four Sigma Nus, three boxers and one wrestler went into the final contest, and all of them won their bouts. The Sigma Nu total of twenty points was five points more than the Sig Alphs who took second place.

Intra-Mural Basketball

ALPHA TAU OMEGA'S speedy set of basket-tossers galloped through the annual intra-mural basketball tournament with a record of no defeats. The Alpha Taus met and handily defeated every other team in the tourney, their closest contest being with the Kappa Sigs, who lost the contest by a three point margin.

The Alpha Taus used a fast breaking offense that baffled their opposition on nearly every play and which allowed the King-Kirkwood short-passing and shortshooting combination to work to perfection.

The Kappa Sigs and Sigma Nus tied for second in the tourney, with a twogame loss scored against each. The other teams in the competition were: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Independent Club, Delta Mu Alpha, Barbs, and Commons.

The class of basketball played in the 1928 intra-mural contests was very good considering the short practice season that preceded the tournament.

Intra-Mural Track

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON won the 1927 intra-mural track title over some hard competition. The S. A. E.'s piled up points in the weight and distance events and were able to nose out the other five competing teams in the two days of the meet. The Sig Alphs will be a hard team to beat again in the 1928 intra-murals.

Intra-Mural Baseball

SIGMA NU won the 1927 intra-mural baseball series. Competition was stiff for the diamond title, and several times the S. N.'s were on the narrow edge of defeat. Good ball and heady team work pulled them through to the championship. A fast intra-mural series is looked for again in 1928.

Women's Athletics

THE Physical Education Department for Women maintains a four year major course in physical education preparing students for teaching. This course is in its fifth year of organization, and numbers some thirty students among its majors. Five graduated with the class of 1928.

The activities include: Sports-hockey, soccer, volleyball, swimming, temnis, basehall, track and field, hasketball, rifle, and horseback riding: Dancing-folk dancing, clogging, and natural dancing ; Gymnastics-restrictive and corrective work.

An intra-mural program of competition in each sport is carried on during each season of the year. Participants receive points toward membership in the Women's Athletic Association. A telegraphic rifle meet was conducted with six rifle teams from other colleges and universities competing. The horseback riding class numbers twenty-five aspirants for degrees in equestrianship.

Work in dancing is offered throughout the Sophomore, Junior and Senior years. The program of activities for the year 1928-29 includes the prologue for the operetta "Bluebeard," a recital before the American Association of University Women, and a spring festival given jointly with the swimming department. Dancing as a separate phase of the physical education work was offered this year for the first time.

The Intercollegiate Play Day is an annual event for athletic competition between the co-eds of the seven colleges and universities of Colorado and Wyoming. A team of eleven peop.e, outstanding in their all-round athletic ability or who are superior in some one or two events, represent each institution.

Each college is host in turn to the aggregation of seventy-seven contestants and their respective coaches. Wyoming was host in May, 1928. The team representing Wyoming in 1927 was composed of Ruth Prout, Mary Whe'an, Josephine Russel, Pearl Green, Doris Lineaweaver, Marcella Avery, Lillian Borton, Louise Cordes, Helen Keller and Irene Johnson.

In the restrictive and corrective classes are enrol'ed about ten per cent of the women students registered in reguired physical education work. These courses meet a very specific need on the part of college women for a highly individualized form of activity. By means of the physical examinations in the fall correctable defects are noted and the students are assigned to the classes for correction of same.

Basketball

WOMEN'S basketba!l was this year one of the most popular co-ed sports. The Interclass tournament was won by the Sophomores. The second place went to the Freshman team, and the Junior-Senior quintet was third.

Interest in basketlall was very strong among the co-eds this year, possib'y due to the inspiration derived from the Cowboys winning the division title.

The Interclass games were hard fought and close, and some good sportsmanship was developed and shown.

Swimming

THE Wyoming University Auxiliary Life Saving Corps is an organization composed of the young women who have successfully passed the required tests and examination of the American Red Cross.

The ain of the Auxiliary is to promote interest in life saving, and in life saving methods, to perfect the members in the various swimming strokes, and to create endurance in the water.

The Auxiliary functions as a constant guard against drowning in the pool, inasmuch as its members are regular life guards, as well as habitual users of the natatorium.

Rifle Team

THE Women's Rifle Team, under the capable instruction of Captain Ronald Ring, is one of the outstanding women's organizations on the Wyoming campus. The team this year held several telegraphic meets with women's teams at other universities and colleges and was quite successful in the final reckonings.

A meet was held with the men's rifle team and it was won by the co-eds. The men were handicapped by the necessity of having to shoot from a standing position, while the women used the prone position. Nevertheless, the women proved themselves very capable of ridding themselves of troublesome spouses when they acquire the same in the future, if necessary.

Soccer

UE to the fact that soccer was compara ively new in the line of women's sports in IG28, the number of women participating in the sport did not allow for the selection of class or intra-mural teams.

A team was chosen from among the candidates, however, and was sent to Fort Collins, where it tang'ed with the Colorado Aggies women's soccer team and won by a 2 to o score.

The women's physical education department is looking forward to extensive development of soccer in 1928 , not only as an intercollegiate sport. but also as an inter-class and intra-mura! competition.

MASTER OF MUGWUMP MANOR MARRIES MILLON
(Special to the 1928 Corral by Mills Astin.)

Not the oddest, to say the least, of the surprisingly odd marital contracts entered into by residents of Mugwump in the last year, was the recent marriage of Rastus Bejemus Wary, the well-known master of Mugwump Manor, to Feona Notso Caught, the fair and flourishing damsel who so recently dropped into our midst with her former residence as Checago, Illnus., and who has a bank account of one million simoleons.

Coming as a surprise to none of us, this marriage was well attended by creditors of the groom and several lawyers who expect to be friends of the bride.

It was in the big church around the corner, on the 4 th of July, that the wooing of this thin young man from China finally brought the heiress to the altar. The Reverend Dr. Sigma Mowre was in charge of the festivities and did himself proud. Not a woman in the audience broke down and wept even though they all had, at one time or another, refused the Hon. Mr. Wary's hand in marriage.

The groom and the br:de will not be at home to anyone until Mr. Wary's creditors give up the struggle to take his wife's money away from him. When asked what she thought of modern marriage methods, Mrs. Wary answered. "I now realize that I could have done better, but I needed a butler anyway." Mr. Wary in answer to this question said, "I couldn't bear to see Feona wear herself thin trying to spend that million when I could be of so much help. I would like to know who threw that rotten tomato."

MORE UNKNOWN HISTORY
Way back in the dear. dead days
When Glen Stanton was just a funnylooking
Little Irish Mick
He was picked up off of the streets by a kind old gent
Who took pity upon him for having to go through life
With such a funny looking face.
The old gentleman took the boy and his face in hand
And began an extensive campaign of improvement.
Feeling that the boy was just a little lazy, (a fact well-known to all of us now)
The kindly old codger told our Glennon to arouse him
Every morning at eight o'clock
And to announce what kind of weather was going on without.
Glen arose the next morning and approaching his benefactor's
Sleeping-chamber door

Knocked thereon very loudly and proclaimed,
"Eight oclock, sir, and a bright sunshiny day outside."
The old man, wishing to impress the boy with his religious connections, replied, "Yes, my son, God and I know that."
This procedure went on for several days until
The time arrived when the irrepressible Irish within
The young moron arose.
He approached the sleeping chamber door as usual and announced,
"Eight o'clock, sir, and a bright sunshiny day outside."
"Yes, my son," answered the old man, "God and I know that."
"You'r a liar, Mister," replied Stanton.
"It's eleven o'clock and raining like hell outside.'
And thus he left his first job and eventually Arrived in our midst.

PI BETA PHI-"Individualism personified. Just ask 'em. Always on the alert for what is being done and the thing of the moment. Have gone in enmasse for intellectualism. All the difficulties with their pledges are described in terms of complexes and inhibitions. One of the sisters said that she had no inhibitions and immediately became the most popular girl in the chapter until the boys found out that it was only one of her little jokes. They always get every one that they bid for. Oldest national on the campus. Also have Dr. Hebard of lowa-something-something. Pi Phis pride themselves on the panoram of chiffon' display that is theirs.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA-The Kappas are the campus heavyweights. Gene Tunny and Strangler Lewis are the Kappa's patron saints. All in the hindred and ninety-five division. A few sl:ght ones were pledged but only after they had shown propensities for future growth. Kappa Gammas always want to know just what "he" looks like, before they will date him. Poor devils, little do they realize that if he were equally particular he never would have called. They try never to mix "poise" and "paws." They have been known to pout for hours after having been referred to as "Gamma Zetas." It's a good house even though it was at one time an army barracks. Dr. McIntyre vouches that "Kappa, Pfd." is not of the stock market.

DELTA PHI SIGMA-Second only to the Kappas. Have a wide sphere. Broad-minded and otherwise. Are humbie now but so have others been. Only Wyoming could produce such girls as are the De!ta Phis. Haven't been here long enough for the establishment of a more or less permanent reputation. Know what curtains are for but don't use them. It pays to advert-se. Are an up and coming bunch of young ladies.

Modern youth respects old age only when it comes in bottles.

DELTA DELTA DELTA-Exponents of the press agent stunt that was the downfall of three illustrious seniors. "We can cry without outside assistance," they are quoted. After the rush season this is to be believed. Three moves in three years are keeping them ahead of unfair rent charges. The Tri-Delt chapter at Kansas Aggies doesn't look so bad. Pledged a couple of good fur coats and expect to do better next year. Their candidate got more votes than any other in the Wyo popularity contest, but the chapter didn't sell enough annuals. They aren't really a choosy bunch, they just seem to be. We ask you why shouldn't a group of young girls like this succeed.

KAPPA DELTA-A group of go-getters-sold more Wyos than anyone else. Also defeating the rent-hogs by keeping on the jump. Have moved just as many times as the Tri-Delts and say that they are just getting started. Their candidate won the popularity contest, taking a decisive lead in the voting on a windy day. Have declared that unless the U. S. raises the Swedish immigration quota they will not be able to pledge any more before 1930. Are devotees of free thought, free love, and free meals. Before you dole out your pin give these girls a look. Just a bunch of good girls trying to get ahead.

PI OMEGA-Distance lends enchantment. Have threatened to prove up and move in by next year. Here's hoping. Are quite exclusive. Pledged six good girls. Great oaks from little acorns grow. Time will tell. Believe that college is the nation's greatest matrimonial agency. Grew frantic and pledged a popularity queen. Should do better next year. Are not too old to learn yet.

A CLEANER
A POLISHER

SHINE-ALL is an efficient, trade-marked chemical cleanser, which contains no harmful agents, such as alkali, acid-ammonia, soda or lye and canst $c$, found in all cheap soaps and powders that require a brush or scrubling machine and lots of labor to use. Many of those cheap materials also contain strong chemicals of an injurions character or grit and heavy abrasives. When such materials are used on finely finished woodwork, linolemm, rubber, composition, tile of any kind, cork, painted, or any finished surfaces, they actually destroy the surface. Repainting or refinishing is costly. In the case of linolenm, rubber or similar types of floors, these soaps and powders will sooner or later ruin such floors and the flooring mannfacturers warn yon expressly against their use.

SHINE-ALL has been thoroughly tested and tried, and approved for linoleum floors by the makers of Armstrong's Linoleum and Blabon's Art Linoleum. It has been used for years in the leading hospitals, court houses, ofice buildings, and other public buildings over the country. This cleaningday boon is available to the woman of the home as well. Just remember that SHINEALL is a liquid cleanser, and that it contains no caustic acid or anything injurions to polished woodwork, furniture, or enamelware. For ti'e floors, marble or terrazzo, SHINE-ALL acts as a filler and a polisher, leaving a smooth, glossy surface that is easily kept clean by daily wiping.

VITAL STATISTICS

Observing Oscar reports that from a recent survey of the non-fraternty and fraternity men on the campus, he finds that the upper stratum in the social column at Wyoming is made up of the ten per cent of the male students who have not pledged and who do not belong to fraternities.

Also if all of the fraternity men at the University of Wyoming were placed head to toe in the street gutters of Laramie they would feel natural.

That if a Sigma Nu and a Kappa Sig were marooned on an island with only a young co-ed for company, the Sigma Nu would study.

That an A. T. O. and a Sig Alph, placed in a situation like the one above, would waste their time fighting each other.

That an Independent and a D. M. A. similarly situated would spend their time cooperating in the production of hokum to use on the Sig Chis and Phi Delts.

Mary Grieve: "I told Tom that the average woman's clothing only weighs eight ounces."

Mary Whelan: "And what did he say?"
M. G.: "He thought it was a shame they had to wear such heavy shoes."

Mr. Tatham: "Would you be very angry if I hugged you?"

Miss Fanning: "Angry, I should be simply furious. How dare you suggest such a thing. If you try anything like that, I'll never speak to you again, and besides, this isn't a good place anyhow."

Dr. Scott: "What animals are there that look like cats, walk like cats, have tails like cats, and yet is not a cat?'

Ranking foremost among the state of Wyoming's institutions of higher learning is the U. of WV. (University of wind, women and what have you? The Colorado College basketball team claims that the $W$ means worse). This famous un:versity is located near the city of Laramie, a municipality noted far and wide for its beauty and civic pride.

It is claimed that Wyoming U . has more money and less to spend it on than any other institution in the United States. Some cowboy once found an oil well on a section of school land and his first words on his discovery were: "Let's start a Collitch!" and they did, and you see what come of it. No basketball team in the conference has been able to win a game from the Cowboys on their own Hoor.

The University of Wyoming is famous throughout the west for its gymanasium, women and ugly men, and an occas:onal football player. But after all, it's a good place to go to school (ask those that go there).-Rocky Mountain Collegian.

How's This?

Walt Kingham was walking across the campus and noticed a shining half dollar lying on the stone path. As he picked it up, and was smiling at his lucky break, Zene Bohrer gently tapped him on the shoulder and said:
"That's my cartwheel, thank you. I dropped that silver dollar a few minutes ago and it mast have rolled right in your path."
"Here," lamented Walt, "take this half dollar and I'll bring the other half down in a minute."
"Pinky's" Papa: (coming unexpectedly into his son's fraternity house) : "Does Mr. Cole live here?"
Boyd: Yes, bring him in."

LITTLE KNOWN LIGHTS IN THE LIVES OF FAMOUS MEN
Mr. P. Revere
had just begun his famous ride through the Middlesex villages and farms and had already routed out a few of the famous old gents that did their bit toward making this a true country of the free and the speakeasies when at the corner of the lane that he was traversing he came to a house that was not a bit different from any of the others that he had already passed.
and after beating on the door for a couple of hearty beats he yelled, "The British are coming. Arouse. Arouse.
To arms, and all other expressions of military preparation."
An upstairs window banged up and a head containing a face that was not the slightest disagreeable to gaze upon protuded.
"Hello Paul," she said sweetly. "Nice evening. Won't you come in ?"
Paul stood looking up at the damsel for a moment and then gazed down the lane in the general direction of the invading host.
"Damn the British," he said and went in.

VENICE

Cool silver moonlight
Casting a sleek sheen
On a smooth, slimy
Water
Deep, dusky, quiet . . . . .
Broken only
By the noise at intervals
Of Venetian housewives
Emptying the evening garbage
Into the canal.

1.ODGES OF THE CAMPUS OF THE COWBOYS

Aipha Tau Omega: The oldest on the campus. Now showing evident signs of decay according to everybody else on the campus. A. T. O. could stand for "Awful Tough Outflt" but doesn't. Probably means "All Tired Out." "Awful Tight Outfit" would fit because they are evidently too hard up to buy a coat of paint for the house. Nothing serious meant by the emphasis on the "tight." Some prerequisites for membership are: Ability to alter with ease: Domicilic connections with Cheyeme, Superficial hatred for S. A. E.; Be of the Specie Thompsonius.

Sigma Alpha Epsflon: "Simply Awfully Esthetic." Bulging muscles and what not. Masculine auxitiary to Delta Delta Delta, and probably proud of it. Harry Mills Astin, Charley Wittenbraker, Otto Campbell, and Bobby Jones are Sig Alphs. Are noted for the murity of their "rush" parties. Superficial haters of A. 'T. O.'s. Have Casper sewed up like a sack. An enlarged "caput" and muscles with the same ailment will get you in. Members are always broke, due to the fact that there is a fine lev:ed for all cons or flunks.

Sigma Nu: If you can drink orangepe'ioe and not slop your rest you have the making of a Sigma Nu . Sigma Nu was modernly founded at Virginia Military Institute for what purpose nobody knows. Anciently it was the order of the Edenic Snake, the same reptile that led Eve astray. In person, not a moving picture. The Nus have been emulating the ancient order for long, but as yet have no record of giving any fallen women the starting shove.

A new passing combination was unearthed at the Eleventh Annual tourney this year. Knight to Hunton to Dudley to Crane to Soule out of bounds was very successful.

Kappa Sifima: Kappa Sigma was founded at Pittsburgh during a strike of the coal miners. It is an organization for mutual protection of I. W. W.'s. Kappa Sigma provides a home for boys who get out of high school too soon. Kappa Sigs' proudest boast is that they have never been in the running for the scholarship cup. To be a true Kappa Sig you must try at least once to grow a mustache. This accounts for the look of despair on the brothers' faces. Kappa Sigma now has one hundred and five chapters, but it is thought that the epidemic is now under control.

Independent Club: Independent is the word. Are nothing but. The Independent club nurtures a secret hope for eventually becoming Sig Chi. Also nurture T. J. Kelly to assist the secret hope along. Imitate and admire the Sig Alphs, but should not be blamed for natural hero worship. Surely do sing the "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" nobly and optimistically.

Delta Mu Alpha: D. M. A. means to the femmes, "Don't Monkey Around." D. M. A. was founded somewhere during a lull in a milk-workers' strike to give the milkers a little more pull with the cows. The D. M. A.'s are a bit more refined and gentle than the regular run of Cowboys, and therefore always pad their legs when wearing knickers. Motto is: "Phi Delta Theta in Infuitum."

TOURNAMENT NOTES

Deane Hunton, the School of Commerce's entrant in the free throw contest, nosed out Dr. Knight by throwing four out in five minutes. Dr. Knight was only able to locate three and one of these got away so he defaulted.

Does Friendship Really Count In Business?

Quite a long time ago someone said, "there is no friendship in business." He couldn't have been thinking very hard when he said it because nothing was ever farther from the truth. The business of our store has been built up entirely on friendship-the sincere kind that tries to give our customers just a little more than a square deal.

The very future of this town depends on the friendsh ${ }^{\circ}$ of the surrounding community, and we who serve in its stores should remember that every discourteous and selfish act on our part hurts our own future : every kind and thoughtful act is just another stone to build up mutual prosperity.

Let's make 1928 a big year for community development. We can do it if we'll all pull together.
